PRESIDENT MAPLES
FEB 23, 2016
BOARD 2.1

ild trust that positively impacts the work of the university.

aches

ed below is a recommended two-way approach for Oregon Tech for communicating certain major ojects and important issues to Oregon Tech's campus community that may require additional outreach of which will be

- Projects that have a major/significant impact on campus activities, events a ding value added of

The following university communication process will launch once an issue/project is identified:

1. Project/issue is presented to executive staff for review and make a determination of whether it meets the threshold for a project/issue the executive staff will determine feasibility, weigh value, discuss alternatives, discuss whether/how to move the project forward; determine stakeholders.

2. [redacted] and students, and depending on the project/issue, might also include external stakeholders.
3. Feedback from all of these meetings is collated and shared back to the campus community. The President communicates with Trustees along the way, as needed, as the campus outreach is being completed.
4. [redacted] communicating the project to the campus community, and to the Board of Trustees, and [redacted]